

Groups of parent/carers with experience of social services – WANTED!

- Have you or a parent/carer group you are part of had or currently receiving social services/care?
- Do you want to HELP social services understand your priorities when providing support for your child.
- Do you want to make sure that the support social services give for your child are relevant and up to date!!
- IF SO, THEN READ ON

We are looking to engage with 2 groups of parent/carers (from 3 – 30 people), across the country this spring to find out, what your key priorities are, when receiving social services/care to support your family and your children.

Sessions will be delivered by the Anna Freud National Centre for children and families Participation team, this includes staff AND our parent/carer and young champions.

Participants will be reimbursed and recognised for their time and travel.

Participants will also be acknowledged and recognised for their help in this project of change.

The 4 focus groups will be run in the spring, by end of may, we can come to you, or you can come to us. If you would like to know more about the project, please contact the Centre's Participation Officer – Nicholas.Morgan@annafreud.org
